

This small piece of green space in Reeves Close is far more than just a patch of land.

This land is a place for neighbours to meet, chat, and connect. For elderly residents, or those recovering from operations or dealing with mobility issues, it offers a gentle, safe and accessible place to walk — right on their doorstep. It's flat, quiet, and familiar — things that are incredibly important when you're not able to venture far. It's also a perfect spot for dog-walking, light exercise, or simply sitting and enjoying nature.

If this land is built on, we lose not just a green field — we lose wildlife habitats, we lose a safe, accessible outdoor area for residents. And we lose a natural, calming corner of the street that helps bring balance to our lives.

This land was originally left as open space for good reason, and we believe that reason still stands. Once it's gone, it's gone — and future generations will wonder why we let it be taken away.

We hope you'll consider this when deciding about this application.

Yours Sincerely
