Comment Reasons:

Comment: I am a second-generation resident of this beautiful road, overlooking the peaceful farm. My parents lived at 26 Allandale for 30 years. Unfortunately, the swimming business operating next door is generating tremendous noise pollution - even on weekends - starting as early as 7:50 a.m.

There is constant noise from young children screaming and adults shouting, and their dog barks constantly as new people arrive. This, in turn, sets off the farmers' dogs, causing even more barking. Cars frequently park on the farm side, often blocking the pavement and sometimes obstructing or blocking our driveways. People perform three-point turns in large jeeps, creating a non-stop stream of traffic, along with the slamming of car doors and side doors - all directly affecting the peace and quiet of our garden.

In addition to group swimming lessons, they also host birthday parties - we know this because on more than one occasion, guests have mistakenly rung our doorbell, thinking the party was at our house.

It's easy for those who support this business to be in favour of it - they are not the ones being affected by the constant disruptions. Traditionally, swimming schools such as David Lloyd or Virgin

Active are located on main roads or in commercial areas where nearby residents are not disturbed for the sake of someone else's profit.

To give a sense of the imbalance, last year our neighbour, Joshua Singer, rang our doorbell at 5:30 p.m. to complain about the noise from our gardener using a leaf blower - for just 10 minutes - because he wanted to enjoy the silence and his barbecue. I didn't confront him, despite feeling frustrated, because I want to be a peaceful person. But the daily nuisance we endure is disproportionate and unfair.

We ask that the operators of the swimming business respectfully acknowledge the disruption they are causing and consider the impact of their activities on the surrounding residents.
